

2016 Cranford H.S. MUN Conference Awards

The Cranford High School Model U.N. Club participated in the 46th Annual YMCA Model United Nations Conference in Hershey, Pennsylvania. Our delegation of 120 students participated in the conference with approximately 1900 students representing over 30 schools throughout the New Jersey, Delaware and Pennsylvania area.

Here is a list of our student accomplishments:

Hannah Jacobson was recognized for Outstanding Country as a delegate from China.

Jacob Snover was recognized for Premier Country as a delegate from United Kingdom.

Bart Lahiff was recognized as Premier Delegate in the International Criminal Court.

Arika Daryani was recognized in General Assembly A for writing an Outstanding Country Research Paper.

Anne Stochel was recognized in the World health Organization for writing an Outstanding Country Research Paper.

Emma DeBole was recognized as the Outstanding 1st Year Delegate in the World Health Organization.

Adam Hollanek was recognized as the Outstanding 1st Year Delegate in the International Court of Justice.

Cam Hay was elected to Chair of the Political and Security Committee for next year's conference.

Elsa Rodriguez was elected as Chief Justice in the International Criminal Court for next year's conference.

The Cranford High School Delegation as a whole was awarded Outstanding Delegation. This distinction is given to schools in the conference for its adherence to program rules, and overall preparation and performance of its students.

The following students were invited to attend the annual YMCA Youth Conference On National Affairs(CONA). Twenty-five student delegates of the approximately 1900 who attend conference are selected for this honor. CHS has two students attending. Those students are:

- Adam Hollanek
- Sabrina Huwang

The following students were selected as alternates:

Olivia DelVecchio

Bart Lahiff

Cam Hay

Elsa Rodriguez

Erica Henninger

Katrina Vizzoni